TUESDAY EVENING. SEPT. 3, 1901.

MURDEBED BY A NEGRO GIRL.-C. S. Brightwell has returned to Lynch. burg, bringing the particulars of the murder of his brother, Thomas Bright-well, which occurred in Appomattox county near Spring Mills, on Friday evening. Thomas Brightwell had returned home from his work at George Roseer's sawmill and was sitting in the yard with his children, when his little daughter asked him to get her some peaches. He went across the road to a peaches. He went across the road to a cabin lot occupied by a negro family named Robertson. The place, it is claimed, had been rented the negroes by Brightwell, and was under his control. On reaching the cabin yard Brightwell pulled several peaches from the cabin part and storted back home. As he a tree and started back home. As he did so, two negro girls began cursing and abusing him, and Brightwell, not being able to quiet them, dropped the peaches and started back toward the cabin. The two girls, with their little sister, ran up into the loft of the garret and closed the shutter, making it intensely dark in the room. On reaching the cabin door Brightwell took one step to mount to the garret. As he did so, one of the girls, it is alleged, struck him full in the face with the blade of an axe, cutting deep into the brain behind the eye. A second blow buried the axe in eye. A second blow buried the axe in the top of Brightwell's skull. A third blow sect the axe in at the base of the skull. In all probability Brightwell never knew what hit him. At the in-quest the little sister testified that it was Lottle Robertson who wielded the axe. The two girls, the father, the mother and the little sister are under

To STOP COCAINE SALES,-Toe city of Roanoke, Va., is greatly stirred up over the rapidly growing cocaine babit there and the officials are drawing up plans to stop the sale of the drug there. The habit was introduced in Roanoke last year during the city carnival by one of the "fakers" at the show. It grew until hundreds of young men are now addicted to the use of the drug, which is having a demoralizing effect. One young man confessed that the habit had so firm a hold on him that once he had pawned one of his mother's silk dresses to obtain cocaine.
